

Constructionarium Spring Break 2017

Turning Theory into Practice

Bircham Newton, Norfolk, England

March 10 – March 19, 2017

Interested in a field trip to the UK?

This course involves overseas travel to London and Bircham-Newton to participate in a project known as “Constructionarium” To learn more please visit: (www.constructionarium.co.uk). The field trip class provides an opportunity for students in Construction Science to plan and complete a project in an international environment within a one week window of time, learning to adapt to the surrounding environment and observe unique characteristics of the construction industry. Students will organize and manage the construction of a scale replica project to be selected on site. Oversight and critique will come from international construction professionals. Trip includes two nights in London at the conclusion of the program’s activities.
